For less than the cost of a cup of coffee you can ensure that a child like this one, can receive the greatest gift you can give: a life with a future.

A life where they receive an education, food, clean drinking water, books, medicine, and access to medical care. A life where they can grow up healthy, and able to receive additional training and micro loans to help them get started in their own businesses. And a life where they can become self-sufficient, able to take care of not only themselves but also their own families, and the people of their country. All for only a $1 a day.

As the poorest country in the Western Hemisphere, Haiti and it's population of nearly nine million people make up a number of statistics that we should never see in our modern lifetime.

54% are without clean drinking water. 49% are malnourished. 45% are illiterate and the average income for the majority of working adults is $1/day or less.
